Charting New Waters

Following the recent exciting announcement concerning our renewal rights agreement with Suncorp for the Marine portfolio we thought that now would be a great opportunity to keep you up to date on the evolving face of Vero National Marine (VNM) in NSW.

The Suncorp deal represents a further milestone in our journey towards being the number 1 Australian owned Marine insurer for intermediated business.

As well as obviously growing our business, our absorption of Suncorp Marine provides further scale in our product range, with an increase in our capacity, as well as further cementing our reputation as a consistent and long term specialist market for Marine risks.

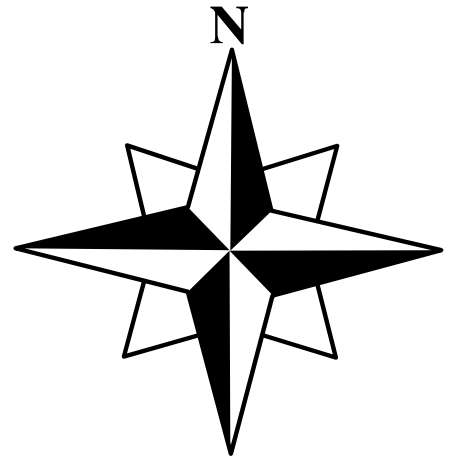

We have added additional expertise to our Underwriting team and remain committed to providing knowledge based solutions for your clients Marine coverage needs.

From our easy to use on-line cargo products, "Premium Generator" and "E-Certs", to insurance on specialist Cargo, Hull and Marine Liability risks Vero National Marine have the capability to expertly deal with your customer's exposures.

Welcome Aboard.

Vero National Marine are pleased to welcome Mr Pene Reuben and Mr Lachlan Hinwood to the Underwriting team in Margaret Street.

Pene starts work on 31st May followed a week later by Lachlan. Both appointments continue our commitment to broker service – a value you can count on!

Going for Broke(rs)!

Vero is completely committed to our brokers and having listened to their views we have formed a new team to ensure that our service and communication with our producers is second to none. With this in mind we are pleased to announce that VNM's NSW Development Underwriter; Mark Dixon, has now moved to a wider role within Vero as part of the new Vero Broker Relationship Management Team.

We at VNM wish Mark every success and will be working closely with him and his new colleagues to continue to provide superior coverage and service in our broad range of marine policies.

Our Underwriting team continue to develop our service and process propositions so that you can rest easy that your client's transit or other maritime risks are being looked after by the experts with global experience and reach.
